

Stop transnational organized crime: how the international community can cooperate to face “mobsters without borders”

by
Sandro Calvani UN Representative for Drug Control and Crime Prevention for East Asia and the Pacific

The threats of uncivil society

Human trafficking & smuggling of migrants

Fraud

Illicit drug trade

Corruption

Bank secrecy, Money laundering, and off-shore banking

Transnational organized crime

Every nation, irrespective of its geographical, political, or economic situation is affected

We must work together!

Commitment must come from civil society, governments and organizations

No one alone can cope with the threat of transnational organized crime

Coordination and cooperation are key!!

United Nations Office for Drug Control and Crime Prevention (ODCCP)

United Nations International Drug Control Programme (UNDCP)

- Educate the world about the dangers of drug abuse;
- Strengthens international action against drug production, trafficking and drug related crime
- Promote efforts to reduce drug abuse, particularly among the young and vulnerable
- Builds local, national and international partnerships to address drug issues; and,
- Provides information, analysis and expertise on the drug issue.

Centre for International Crime Prevention (CICP)

- Promotes international cooperation in crime prevention and control;
- Supports the development of criminal justice systems; and,
- Assists Member States in addressing the challenges and threats posed by the changing nature of transnational organized crime.

ODDCP Regional Centre in Bangkok will facilitate new initiatives in crime prevention

- Global Programme against Corruption
- Global Programme against Trafficking in Human Beings
- Global Studies on Organized Crime

ACCORD establishes a dynamic Plan of Action, which rests on four pillars:

-  Proactively advocating civic awareness on dangers of drugs and social response
-  Building consensus and sharing best practices on demand reduction
-  Strengthening the rule of law by an enhanced network of control measures and improved law enforcement co-operation and legislative review
-  Eliminating the supply of illicit drugs by boosting alternative development programmes and community participation in the eradication of illicit crops

The achievement of the Plan will be continually measured through a regional monitoring mechanism owned by all the stakeholders.

We must take a stand and declare that we will not accept a world where we must raise our children in fear of global predators and transnational organized crime

Thank you.
